Hong Kong's only law firm to abolish hourly rates.

Bowers (branded bowers.law) is an independent Hong Kong law firm established in 2020, which provides a wide range of legal services to its corporate and individual clients.

Our founding principle is that we charge only pre-agreed fixed, staged or retainer fees, completely eliminating hourly billing. This business model provides our clients with value, certainty and shared risk. It also means that we provide advice and act as quickly, efficiently and cost-effectively as possible - which, we believe is what clients want from their legal advisors.

A new way of thinking.

This underpins everything we do – we continually question old, established practices to assess where a new way of looking at things might be in the best interests of our clients.

A team of efficient problem solvers.

For dispute resolution matters, we see our job as keeping our clients out of court/arbitration, and always to work towards achieving a realistic, cost-effective commercial settlement (by negotiation, mediation or any other alternative dispute resolution methods) which is in the best financial and other interests of our clients.

As result-orientated lawyers, for corporate/commercial matters, we advise practically and creatively in order to overcome, or work around, technical and other difficulties that naturally arise during the 'life' of any transaction.
